The RainForest "Hot Spots"

Bornean Orangutan Exhibit: Located on the upper level, view a troop of Bornean orangutans demonstrate their arboreal nature by climbing 39 feet about visitors into The RainForest's geodesic dome.

Tropical Rain Storm: Sounds of thunder draw visitors to a large lower-level exhibit featuring Asian porcupines. Every 12 minutes, a tropical rainstorm occurs, complete with lightning, wind, thunder and rain

Gharial Exhibit: Next to the insects on The RainForest lower level, steps lead the visitor down to a split-level, eye-to-eye view of a unique crocodilian, the gharial - a unique species of crocodilian, characterized by its long, thin snout and the bulbous growth at the end of its snout.
